

Keva Wright Berry, C'79 is the president of the National Alumnae Association of Spelman College (NAASC). She has been an active member of NAASC for over thirty years holding positions as President-elect, National Assistant Treasurer, Member-at-Large East, National Corresponding Secretary, National Constitution and By-laws chair, Northeast Regional Coordinator and President of the Boston Area chapter.

A native of Boston, Massachusetts, Keva is the Senior Financial Business Partner for Academic Affairs at the University of Southern Maine (USM) in Portland, Maine. In this role, she provides strategic direction for the allocation and administration of resources within the Division of Academic Affairs in the context of overall priorities of the university. Her previous position at USM was as the Financial Manager for the College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences where she was primarily responsible for the financial management and administration of the Office of the Dean and College departments/schools/programs and grant-funded activities.

Prior to coming to USM, she worked as a recruiter/manager's assistant with American Express Financial Advisors and has also worked with small businesses through her affiliation with the Small Business Development Center at Morehead State University in Morehead, Kentucky.

As the Administrative Officer for the Quality Education for Minorities (QEM) Network in Washington, DC, Ms. Wright Berry was responsible for the overall financial and personnel administration. The QEM Network is a non-profit educational organization that is dedicated to improving the education of targeted minority groups with the belief that quality education for minorities improves the quality of education for all.

Ms. Wright Berry is a member and/or officer in various organizations including the National Association of African American Studies & Affiliates and Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., Boston Alumnae Chapter.

Ms. Wright Berry holds a B.A. degree in Music Performance from Spelman College in Atlanta, Georgia and a M.Ed. in Management from Cambridge College in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

She is the proud mother of Kyla Marshall, C'2009!